The Street Jewellery Society is a voluntary organisation, the Objects of which are to promote the activities of collecting, conserving and to promote the heritage issues pertaining to enamel advertising signs. Members pay an annual fee, and receive three newsletters (The Street Jewellery Review) and one Membership Directory per year, issued in July, November (Review plus Directory), and March. Members are encouraged to collaborate in contributing to the Reviews, to organise Meets and other events, and may advertise items Wanted or For Sale in the Reviews. Further to these aims the Society may organise exhibitions and undertake research relating to the Objects and publish the results thereof.
